I had the pleasure of mentoring Arya Kadarkar during his tenure as a Market Research Intern at Fortune Business Insights, where he worked under my guidance for over five months. Throughout this period, Arya consistently demonstrated a remarkable ability to learn quickly, execute tasks with precision, and contribute meaningfully to our research goals.

Arya approached each assignment with curiosity and a strong analytical mindset. He was involved in drafting numerous report descriptions on technology-related topics and approached them with care and a desire to fully understand the subject matter. His curiosity extended beyond the tasks at hand, he frequently asked insightful questions, often wanting to know how his work fit into the bigger picture. It's rare to see such a proactive mindset in an intern.

One of Arya's strengths is his ability to blend his technical background in computer science with a keen interest in business applications. He quickly picked up new tools and workflows and often sought feedback to improve his output. He was not just completing tasks, but actively learning and growing through the process.

Arya is a dedicated and versatile individual with the right mindset to succeed in both academic and professional environments. I have no doubt that he will bring energy, intelligence, and initiative to whatever path he chooses next.

Sincerely,
